RALEIGH WANTS THE NORFOLK AR-TILLERY TO FIRE A SALUTE.

Mott Republicans Completely "Shut Out. All the Nominees Machine-Men-Strange Abduction of a Girl.

ondence of the Richmond Dispatch. RALEGOR, N. C., September 9 .- The Steon reception and State Convention of oratic Clubs to be held here next week is to be a large affair. Last evening at the meeting of the Cleveland-Carr Club here matters were discussed and several mittees reported the progress of reparations. A motion was made that mmittee on Programme invite the Norfolk Light Artillery to visit the city during the celebration and fire a solute on the arrival of the party. If the gallant Norfolkites accept the invitation they will be well received here. Raleuth people are anxious for them to come and will give the company a splendid time.

The quesion now arises, "What will the Mott faction of the Kepublican party do?" If any menever were completely shut out these were the men. The State and congressional conventions were worked entirely by the Eaves machine, and the Mott faction had no voice in anything. Dr. Mott himself will, it has been stated, voice the Democratic ticket. What his heutenants, such as J. C. L. Harris, will do remains a question. It was whispered that Mr. Harris would be given the nomination for elector from this (the Fourth) district, but the nominees both for Congress and elector are regular machine-men. Another curious phase of the situation is the satisfaction of the colored element. The whites allowed them to do a good deal of the speaking and blowing in the conventions and that seems to have satisfied them.

IS IT AN ELOFEMENT?

Chatham county is somewhat excited over a mystery near Goldston, in that county. On Saturday last a strange young man, giving the name of James Chatham, went into the neighborhood, saving he wished to hire laborers to go to Georgia. He spent the night at the house of Goley Phillips, and the two the next morning started to Maroney's, a county church near by. On the way they drove by Wesley Phillips's and took with them his 13-year-old daughter. On arriving at the church they found there would be no services and drove to Gaston Thomas's toget dinner. Before the meal Phillips went driving with one of Thomas's daughters, and when they returned the stranger asked permission to take the Phillips girl driving. They drove off and nothing has been seen or heard of them since. Search has been made in the surrounding country and telegrams have been sent to different points, but nothing has been heard of them. The affair creates much comment.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES. O. J. Spears for Elector and A. M. Clarke

for Congress—How Nominated.

(Special telegram to the Dispatch.)

FATETIEVILLE, N. C., September 9.—A.

M. Clarke, of Moore county, a carpetbagger, was nominated for Congress herto-day by the "Scurlock" wing of the Republican party in this district, and O. J.
Spears, of Harnett, for presidential elector.
In some respects the convention differed from the usual plan hid down in that each candidate was forced to advocate his own course in placing himself or themselves in nomination before the convention.

RICH SPEECHES.

The speeches were right, rare, and racy, and the eulogues bassed upon themselves by some of the candidates marked a new departure in political conventions. Clark, the congressional nominee, is at present postmaster at Southern Pines, and is a native of Connecticut, who has been a resident of the State but seven years, and is a watchmaker by trade. In the course of his speech he boasted of his four years' fighting in the Yankee army, for emancipating negro slaves in the South, and his hearty endorsement of Harrison and his

Mr. James Bond, chairman of the People's party, called the convention to order.
A. W. Snell, a prominent farmer of Caske Neck, was nominated for representative in the Legislature; John Hughes for coroner, W. A. Farker for surveyor, and J.
Madison Early was endorsed as their candidate for the senatorial nomination for the district composed of Bertie and Northampton counties. All of the candidates are of Democratic antecedents except the candidate for coronor, who has twice before been elected to that office as a Republican. The convention left the nomipublican. The convention left the nomi-nations for sheriff and register of deeds open for consideration at a future conven-

A JUNIOR EDITOR QUIETLY WEDDED. Charles H. Slack United to Miss E. Wads-

Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

Bristol. Tenn., September ?.—Yesterday at high noon Mr. Charles H. Slack, the gifted junior editor of the Bristol Daily Courier, and Miss Enzabeth Wadsworth, of Maysville, Ky., were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The wedding was very quiet, no cards having been issued. The young comple will arrive in this city to-morrow, where they will take up their abode. A grand reception will be tendered them by Mr. Slack's parents early next week. Mr. Slack is one of the leading parsgraphists and editorial writers in Tennessee or Virginia. He is about 29 years of age and was born in Tennessee, near Athons. He was educated at King College, in this city. He was a few years ago president of the Tennessee Press Association. It is not generally known here that Jordon was a lawyer, and that he was one of considerable promise. He had not followed his profession here, but had in Ohio, where, it is stated, he had to leave on account of trouble he got into Jordon made lots of money in the city of Knoxville, but not in the practice of law. He was engaged in the business of enlarging pictures, and made as high as $100 in one week.

The trial of Doc. Taylor, the murderer, is progressing rapidly at Wise Courthouse, and will probably come to a close the last of this week. There is no doubt but what the verdict of the jury will be guilty of murder in the first degree. The jail is still heavily guarded. DAMAGE SUIT.

A few months ago J. D. Statser, an employee of the South Atlantic and Ohio road, was badly hunt while coupling cars. He brought suit in the Hustings Court for $5,000 damages. The case was tried to-day and the jury allowed him $300.

OTHER MEASURES. He discussed the silver question and the bank question with great power. He said that Fassett declared in the Republican convention that the Republican party had fulfilled all its pledges but one, and that the convention had so said. He could not be followed in his discussion of this question. The people heard him with bated breath. He produced a feeling of horror as he held up the future under the operation of the force bill and was vociferously applauded.

They had the three People's-party speakers in a corner, and I have never seen a profounder impression produced by this great man's demonstration of the falsity of their position.

He was followed by W. D. Harris, of Shenandosh, of the People's party, who said, among other things, that he had not left the Demogratic party, but they had parted company. He was applauded at the close by a few colored people. He discussed the silver question and the
